Hi everyone! It's me again, Montgomery Moo, and this is my favorite time of the year. It's Montgomery County Fair time! Ah, I can almost taste that fair food now. And you gotta love the barns full of animals and kids, the Roundhouse full of baked goods and prized vegetables and children's posters, and the Midway and Entertainment Tent full of excitement. Can't you just feel the excitement? Let me tell you about some of the attractions. Spread the word to your friends, co-workers, and others too and invite them to the fair.

RODEO & RACING PIGS

New this year is a rodeo on Friday night. Triple H Rodeo LLC, out of Brookville, will bring its exciting bull riding and barrel racing to the track in front of the grandstand. It's been a main feature for nine straight years at the Brookville Community Picnic and I know it will be a hit at our fair. The event is sanctioned by the Southern Extreme Bull Riding Association, the largest association of its kind in North America. Purchase advance tickets from 4-H members.

It's been a few years but the racing pigs will be back at the fair, with daily races. Also look for the return of a petting zoo for the youngsters. Both are great for families and are bound to bring "more smiles" at the fair.

COSI COMING BACK

Another thing that has me smiling is the exhibit from the Center of Science and Industry (COSI) in Columbus will be back at the fair in the historic Round House.

Dayton Children's returns this year to educate our visiting elementary schools on Health & Wellness. The children also learn about agriculture and enjoy all the COSI interactive exhibits.

It will be great to see all of you back at the fair, August 31 – September 5. Visit our website montcofair.com for the schedule, online entry information (entry dates Aug. 11, 12, 15, 16), and other news. Have a great summer!
